

RUSSIANS ARE POUNDING AWAY AT TEUTON'S LINES ON WHOLE EAST FRONT

Czar's Hosts Pour Across Zlata-Lipa River and Jablonitzza Menaced

ALLIES ATTACK BULGARS
Italians Capture Austrian Trenches In Four Districts East of Gorizia; Take Prisoners

PETROGRAD, Aug. 16.—General Brusiloff's Russian armies are again attacking all along the line in Galicia, but the hardest blows are being driven home at the ends of the line.

The new peril for the Austro-German armies which have been brought about by this latest burst of Russian activity accounts for the hasty departure of the German Kaiser for the Russian theater of war, where he is at present conferring with Field Marshal von Hindenburg.

The blow struck in the Carpathians, 15 miles south of Delatyn, where the Russians have captured Jablonitzza, is not only a serious menace to the flank of the Austro-Hungarian army, but also imperils Jablonitzza pass, one of the main gateways into the Hungarian plains.

Jablonitzza lies a few miles east of the pass on the main road to Marmaros-Sziget.

Northeast of Stanislaw the Russians are pouring across the Zlata-Lipa river and are overrunning the hill positions of the Austro-Germans.

West of the upper Sereth river and south of the Lemberg railway General von Boehm-Ermolli is using great masses of artillery in an effort to check the Russians.

A dispatch from Kiev reports the arrival there of many hundreds of fresh Austro-German prisoners, all of whom showed the keenest dejection.

"We occupied the region south of Brzezany on the western bank of the Zlota Lipa. Powerful enemy counter attacks were launched to check our advance. Between the mouth of the Zlota Lipa and the Dniester we are fighting our way forward despite desperate resistance. On the Bystrzyca, we have occupied Solovyna and the village of Grykava. In the region of Delatyn and Vorakhta we are pressing the enemy westwards and have already recaptured the heights to the west of Vorakhta and Ardmoz.

"Attempts of the enemy to assume the offensive in the Carpathians near Capui were frustrated.

SALONIKI, Aug. 16.—Further progress has been made in the allies' offensive against the Bulgarians in Macedonia according to the following official report issued by the French headquarters staff today:

"There has been calm on almost the whole front except at the foot of Hill No. 227, where we have occupied the villages in the zone of Lake Doiran. This district last night was the scene of a series of infantry actions which permitted us to advance still farther along the Terrain attacked."

ROME, Aug. 16.—Trenches in four different districts east of Gorizia have been captured by the Italians, it was announced today by the war office. 353 more prisoners have been taken.

The Austro-Hungarian positions penetrated by the Italians were on the slopes of Monte Pecina, along the northern slope of the Carso plateau, in the sector of Monte Caterina and St. Mario.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—There was a severe artillery duel on the Somme front last night, but only minor infantry actions were reported today by the British war office.

The official report follows:

"With the exception of minor infantry engagements in the vicinity of Pozieres, where our lines are being consolidated, there was no change. Between the Ancre and the Somme there was heavy shelling by both sides all night."

VIENNA, (via wireless) Aug. 16.—Austrian naval aeroplanes are carrying out continuous bombardments against the Italian works on the lower Isonzo. The admiralty announced today that railways and military works at the mouth of the river were bombed on the night of August 14.

The report follows: "On the night of August 14 an squadron of our naval planes bombed with great success the railroad station at Ronchi and military works and positions at Crotteverglino and San."

DANISH PURCHASE BILL UP TO SENATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The senate foreign relations committee today took up the Danish treaty providing for paying of $25,000,000 to Denmark for its West Indian possessions. Although some opposition is anticipated, the treaty probably will be recommended for ratification without delay and a vote may be taken in the senate within a week.

Senator Borah, a republican member of the committee, has openly stated his opposition to the treaty because he considers the price too high. He expects to lead a fight against ratification on the senate floor. In this he will be joined by about a dozen senators. The final ratification of the treaty, however, is not in doubt.

SEE IN STUDEVANT CARD INFERENCE THAT SIDNEY MAN WILL TRY IT AGAIN

By David W. Bowman.

The following card, which speaks its writer a good sport and a game loser, as well as a gentleman of the old school, has arrived from Sidney:

I take this method to thank the democratic voters of the Fourth Congressional District for the many courtesies extended to me during my candidacy for Congress. I made a perfectly clean campaign, free from personalities and abuse, and I have no regrets and cherish no animosities. The most damaging thing urged against me was that I could not carry my own county. I did carry my own county, town, ward and precinct, and every other precinct in Sidney, twelve out of the fourteen townships in the county, by substantial pluralities. You won't believe such reports the next time, will you? Sincerely,

L. M. Studavant.

Do you get the significance of this? Get that "next time" reference? In the closing phrase of the card is to be accepted as a criterion, Late is going to take another shot at the congressional nomination after Welty serves his four years. That may be figuring a long way ahead, but it is a pretty good figure at that. Shelby hasn't had a congressman since George Marshall held the job, and that is so far back that most the district never heard of him. Allen county will be out of the road for a while, and a man with the solid backing of Shelby will be in a position to command respect. Auglaize will be out of it because of the renegey of Goeke's tenure, and Miami, Darke or Mercer will offer Studavant his only resistance. At any rate, his card indicates that he's going to shoot the other barrel in 1920. Welcome, Late.

Returns from the congressional and judicial districts have been held up by the fact that Mercer county's official abstract has been returned for correction, so that the official totals on these fights will not be ready until the end of the week. The board of elections yesterday completed the official count on two of the fights involving other counties however, and the totals for the state senatorial and central committee candidates are ready to go to the secretary of state's office.

The state senatorial battle ended this way on the revised abstract:

County	Allen	Auglaize	Defiance	Mercer	Paulding	Van Wert	Williams
Barry	1470	1940	1550	816	888	2018	982
Berry	1470	1940	1550	816	888	2018	982

Van Wert	1470	1940	1550	816	888	2018	982
Williams	1470	1940	1550	816	888	2018	982
Totals	5773	6085	7534

Dr. John E. Monger, of Greenville, the new state central committeeman from the Fourth congressional district, received 1,297 votes more than J. C. W. Coppes, his fellow citizen who was runner-up in the race.

John F. Campbell, of Lima, who spilled the beans for Coppes by pulling out after the ballots had gone to press in Auglaize and Shelby, ran like an express train in those counties, landing 1,198 in the former and 1,145 in the latter, a total of 2,343 for two counties.

In his home county of Darke, Monger polled more votes than Coppes and Drees combined, and ran ahead of J. C. W. in Auglaize, Mercer, Shelby and Miami. In fact, Allen county was the only one of the six to give more votes to Coppes than to the doctor.

The official vote by counties runs as follows:

County	Coppes	Drees	Monger
Allen	1287	642	1012
Auglaize	244	389	496
Darke	1284	346	1809
Mercer	405	634	633
Miami	299	714	448
Shelby	247	443	675
Totals	3776	3228	5073

Monger's plurality, 1297.

The new central committeeman was a Lima visitor yesterday, coming up to file his expense account of $8.50. For the last man on the ticket to run like that with only $8.50 in expenses is rather a novel spectacle. Monger succeeds Post-

FIRE DESTROYS FIVE WATER ST. BUILDINGS; LOSS IS $30,000

Biggest Fire in Lima for Years Breaks Out Early Today.

One of the biggest fires to occur in Lima for a number of years early this morning destroyed a number of buildings in the rear of the Ohio Electric freight depot, on the south side of Water street. According to figures submitted, this morning persons that suffered losses the total damage was estimated at $30,000.

Fire Chief Mack is of the opinion that the blaze started in the rear of the C. O. Eagy Sprage building.

Five buildings which were in the path of the flames were swept to the ground. They were: The leach house of the Schulties Bros. Tannery, the Eagy Truck and Storage company, an annex to the Eagy Truck and Storage building, Farmers' Stand-in Barns, and sheds in the rear of the stables which were the property of Hoyer Brothers.

Eleven horses were consumed by the flames before they could be released from their stalls.

Nightwatchman Houtz was the first to discover the fire, when he saw flames bursting from the rear of the Eagy storage building about 2 o'clock this morning. He immediately gave the alarm. Central apparatus was sent to the scene of the fire, but on seeing the headway the flames had gained the fire chief called out all departments of the city.

PRESIDENT PROPOSES EIGHT HOUR DAY AND SCALE ARBITRATION

Brotherhoods and Railway Managers to Give Their Answers Thursday Morning

MEN CALL 600 BOARD

Chief Executive Meets Road Managers In Conference Today; Unions Await Outcome

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The crisis in the threatened nation-wide railway strike will be reached here tomorrow. At that time definite proposals of compromises must be passed upon by both the railroad managers and the men. "Until then the administration 'marks time' and unless either the representatives of the railroads or the 'big four' brotherhoods request further conferences, none will be held.

The general feeling is that a way out is certain to be found.

The White House, while maintaining the reticence which has been adopted by direct orders of the president, authorized this announcement:

"There has been no break. Both sides still are honestly discussing a way out."

It was learned, however, that the situation is as follows:

At yesterday's conference the president was told by the managers that up to date they had been called upon to make all concessions and had failed to receive any in return. They declared that they could not agree to a one-sided plan.

Previously the representatives of the brotherhoods had told the president that they could not recede from their decision to insist that the question of overtime pay was not a factor to the present negotiations. At the same time they told the president that the union representatives now here were not empowered to settle anything that any plan of agreement must be passed upon by the entire committee of 604 chairmen. The president immediately demanded that the entire membership be called to Washington at once. He was told that it would be impossible for all to get here until tomorrow. It was agreed then that the president would meet the men on Thursday but in the meantime the decision was reached for another conference with the managers today.

In connection with this plan the president, it is understood had in mind the calling to Washington of the railroad presidents to see whether they could not aid him. When this proposition was submitted today, the committee of managers sent word to the White House, Judge Chambers of the board of mediation and conciliation, that there was no use of calling for the presidents. The committee of managers, Judge Chambers was authorized to tell the president, had absolute authority to deal with the present situation.

It was said that the situation had reached a state where the president had made definite proposals to both sides. The nature of these proposals, it was reported, cannot now be disclosed, but in effect they call upon the railroad to grant the chief demand of the men—the 8-hour day—with the collateral questions to be submitted to the arbitration of a non-partisan board of arbitration.

Whether the collateral questions also carry with them the question of extra pay for overtime is a subject on which none of the officials agree. The exact facts are known only to the president and the committee and the president has demanded that they refrain from talking at this time.

Members of the Central fire department did not get back to the station until 9:15 this morning. They were given one of the hardest battles they had experienced in years. The inflammability of the structures and the fact that the fire had gained such headway before discovered made it impossible to save the buildings on fire, and attention was directed toward preventing other buildings in the vicinity from catching fire.

MOOSE LEADERS TO SPEAK FOR WILSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—About 15 members of the progressive party will take the stump in Maine for the democratic ticket. It was announced today at democratic national headquarters. Among them will be the Bainbridge Colby, E. T. Tuttle, national committeeman from Rhode Island and Matthew Hale. Mr. Colby will open at Portland next Monday.

Speaker Champ Clark will also work for the democrats in Maine and will deliver an address at Augusta on Saturday.

The democrats are preparing to send a number of women speakers into Maine. Among them will be Senator Helen Robins of Colorado.

PRESIDENT MEETS MANAGERS.

Will Meet Railway Brotherhood Men Again on Thursday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—With all other executive business halted pending the outcome of his efforts to avoid the threatened railway strike, President Wilson today resumed his conferences with the railway managers. It was said at the White House that the president still is hopeful that an agreement can be reached but that he now fully realizes that the task of adjusting the great differences is extremely difficult. The representatives of the brotherhood are "standing pat" on their original declaration that the question of extra pay for overtime already has been settled between themselves and the railroads and that it cannot be injected into the present controversy. Their attitude in this regard has forced out of consideration the proposition of the managers that the railroad accepted the principle of the shorter work day and then that an arbitration commission work out all of the details for putting it into force, including compensation.

A heavy rain kept both managers and union leaders close to their respective hotels during the early part of the day. Both sides were plainly worried but continued to express the hope that a settlement would be reached before the conference here finally adjourned.

The managers held themselves in readiness to go to the White House on summons but the president sent word he was working on the figures submitted yesterday and that it might be some hours before he would be ready to talk things over again. Judge Chambers of the mediation board saw the president very early. On leaving he said that it might be two or three days yet before a definite plan could be agreed on. Judge Chambers made it plain that if the various railway presidents are called here to confer with the president they will come in an entirely advisory capacity. The committee of managers, he explained, is clothed with absolute authority and it must enter into any agreement that may be reached.

The brotherhood representatives do not expect to see the president again until tomorrow unless the railroad recedes from their present position. They have summoned their entire committee of 400 here to Washington and they will thus be able to answer yes or no to the proposition which the president eventually will solve.

The railway managers are reported as somewhat divided on the course of action they must take. Several of the representatives of the big eastern roads are said to believe that it would be better to take a chance on government ownership being forced on them than to give in to the men at this time. But there are others who hold that it would be wise to accept the proposition as put up to them by the president and then place the complete responsibility for such action at his door. By doing so they claim the railroad would greatly reinforce their case when they go before the interstate commerce commission to ask for an increase of rates.

In this connection, administration officials took occasion today to deny rumors that the president has already gone on record as being willing to favor an increase in freight rates if the railroad meet the demands of the men and thus prevent a strike. White House officials declared today that the president, realizing that the interstate commerce commission is a judicial body, would not, under any circumstances, attempt to influence it. At the time that the last rate case was under consideration, official pointed out to the president while believing that an increase should be granted, declined to comment on the question in any way until the decision was announced.

Reports that many large railroad stockholders were preparing to dump their holdings on the market because of their fear of the possible strike were denied in financial circles here today. The hearings now in progress before the interstate commerce commission on proposed transcontinental rate increases has brought to Washington many big railway attorneys in addition to the members of the board of managers now on hand. These men very frankly assert that they are convinced that eventually the president will be able to avoid a strike.

"The situation is difficult but far from hopeless," said one of them today. Mutual concessions must be made, but we believe that the president will be able to do this."

While the managers continued to hold almost continuous conferences today, the brotherhood representatives waited the arrival of the fellow-committeemen. It was stated by President Garretson of the Order of Railway Conductors, that his side would hold no further conferences among themselves.

"The president knows our position," was all that he would say.

At yesterday's conference the brotherhood representatives told the president that they could have had the eight-hour day long ago if they had been willing to accept it on a pro-rata payment basis for overtime, but to have done that, they say, would have permitted the roads to work their freight men 16 hours in 24 and to have paid them at a straight hourly rate. This was their reason, they told the president, for rejecting the proposition of the roads to submit all of the questions entering into the eight-hour day to any arbitration board.

The railroad managers resumed their conferences at 8 o'clock this morning in order to clean up a number of waiting details prior to going to the White House. It was stated that a number of the presidents of the bigger roads were coming to Washington and it is expected that, if the managers refuse to make the concessions the president believes must be made to avoid the pending strike, all of the railroad heads will be summoned here to pass upon the question.

INFANT GIRL DIES.

Anna, three-weeks-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aspen Zalus, of 115 East Second street, died last night, after an illness which had dated from birth. The parents, a brother and sister left. The Rev. Father Altom, assistant pastor, will conduct services tomorrow at 8 o'clock at St. John's Catholic church. Interment will be at Gethsemani.

J. Guy O'Donnell, of Covington, may be a representative of the Fourth Ohio district on the new state executive committee, according to reports from Miami county. He is remarkable popular in his county, and has twice served as prosecutor. Mighty few democrats ever carried Miami county, and the fact that O'Donnell has done it proves his strength as a vote getter. He has the backing of State Central Committee Monger and the leaders of his county, including Dr. W. J. Prince, the Piqua postmaster, and Dr. G. Jennings, of West Milton, the two medical men who keep the democratic party active in Miami. The latter has just achieved a peculiar honor, in that he was elected chairman of both the county committees, executive and central. In the latter chairmanship he displaced Con. F. Drees, last candidate for the state central committee. Jennings was elected an alternate to the St. Louis convention in June.

The democratic county central committee has been called to meet at the court house Saturday to choose to choose the executive committee for the coming campaign. Judge John F. Lindemann, of Delphos, the chairman of the outgoing committee, will call the gathering together. The call follows:

The members of the democratic county central (or controlling) committee of Allen county, Ohio, elected at the primary election held in said county on August 8 last, are requested to meet at the Court House at Lima on Saturday, August 19, A. D. 1916, at the hour of 1:30 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of organizing and selecting an executive committee.

JOHN F. LINDEMANN,
Chairman of Outgoing Com.
JOHN H. KLATTE, Sec'y.

Highly interesting and instructive editorial comment from the Wapakoneta News of Tuesday:

"Congressman Russell, whose lightning rod is up for a second term as republican, is some smooth guinea, all right, all right. He's now trying to trap the Allen county vote, irrespective of party, by introducing a bill to buy an $85,000 site for a new federal building in the Allen county metropolis. Allen counts on better help elect Ben Welty and make it assured that they'll get help in that direction. Ben is interested as a citizen of the county, and Ed, only wants votes. See the difference?"

It is safe to assert that those who have waited for the Delphos and St. Marys postal sites, secured by Goske and lost by Russell, and who realize that the federal department of the treasury had to hunt Ed up to give him the bill, see the difference.

J. M. THOMAS, OLD TIME LIMA MAN, IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

Joseph M. Thomas, formerly of Lima, but for the past 20 years a citizen of Boston, Mass., died at his home in Auburndale, Tuesday morning at 10:30. He was a brother of B. F. and C. E. Thomas, who are identified with The Lima Packing Company.

Mr. Thomas had been in failing health for the past five years, and had been under the care of leading specialists of the country, but without avail. He maintained his courage and hope almost to the end that he would get well, for when visited by his brother C. E. Thomas, four weeks ago, he was full of plans for the future and said he expected to get in condition to execute them.

He is survived by a wife and four children, two sons and two daughters, all of whom are grown.

MRS. R. O. WOODS TO SING AT PANDORA

Mrs. R. O. Woods, Lima's well known contralto, will be soloist at the mid-summer concert, to be given on Sunday, August 20, at Grace Mennonite church in Pandora, under the auspices of the Pandora Choral society. Eldon Giger of Middletown will be director. R. B. Mikesell of Lima, will be engaged as tenor soloist.

Mrs. Guy C. Latchaw of Findlay, will be soprano soloist and Guy C. Latchaw of Findlay, will take the bass parts in the solo work. Miss Stella Bixel of Pandora, will be pianist and Miss Rae Hiffner of Lima, will be organist.

The Choral society, assisted by the soloists named above, will sing the oratorio, "Elijah." No admission will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken. It is expected a score or more of Lima musicians will hear the rendition of the oratorio.

MOOSE MULTITUDE AT HOME OPENING

The former home of D. J. O'Day at West and Elizabeth streets, purchased by the Moose and now known as their club-house and home, was formally opened last night. Several hundred Moose and their families and friends attended. The house, replete with all modern conveniences and delightful for a residence, has been turned into one of the most complete club-houses. With the exception of Thursdays, it will be open every day and evening henceforth.

The lawn fete where cooling refreshments were served, added to the attractiveness of the scene. The furnishings within were placed by the trustees, of which Harold Stump is chairman. Frank Lyle was toastmaster and called for impromptu responses from various prominent persons present.

The reception committee consisted of Frank Lyle, L. E. Ludwig, James Morton, Mayor Simpson, Judge F. C. Becker and Perry Anderson. The lawn fete was in charge of a committee consisting of Charles S. Peltier, Ross Riker and Ivan Wagner.

The building committee, which is responsible for the convenient home, was composed of Howard Treat, Frank Lyle, L. E. Ludwig, J. G. Herab, Perry Anderson, H. O. Mowory and E. B. Dodge. The order has now 1,146 members in Lima.

MRS. ELLA METZGER DIES; ILL 4 DAYS

Mrs. Ella Metzger, 52 years old, wife of Henry J. Metzger, of 558 Ohio street, died last night at 1:05 o'clock, after an illness, dating only from last Friday evening. Heart and kidney trouble took Mrs. Metzger away suddenly.

She was born in Van Wert county and was the daughter of Mrs. Mary Fitzpatrick, who makes her home with the Metzger family. Besides the husband and mother, Mrs. Metzger leaves two children, Kenneth, aged 13 years and Frances, aged 9. Two sisters, Mrs. Daniel Carroll, of Chicago, and Mrs. David Cooper, of South Union street, Lima, are also left. Her only brother was buried three months ago to the very day his sister died. He was Thomas Fitzpatrick. For 13 years the family has made Lima her home.

Mass for the dead will be celebrated Friday morning at 8 o'clock at St. John's Catholic church. The Rev. Father Altom, assistant pastor, will chant the mass. The body of this devoted wife and mother will be laid to final rest in Gethsemani.

BEE'S HIVE INSIDE UNUSED CHIMNEY

Mrs. K. M. Powers, living three miles west of Lima, while about her household yesterday, noticed some dead bees at the opening in the flue. Upon examination, she found the flue completely closed, by the work of the bees.

They had gained entrance through a mortice joint and had taken up their home and were preparing their honey in the flue. A plate covered the top and made the flue available for their home.

Children Wrap Governor With Ribbons and Lead Him to Stand.

Perry Township School Picnic Draws Large Crowd to Bacome's Grove.

Perry township's school picnic and reunion is being held today at the T. A. Bacome's stop 7, Springfield line. Governor Willis was the main factor at the picnic this morning entertaining the large assembled crowd with a half hour's talk. The children lined up at the gate, bound him with ribbons and led him to the reception stand. He was introduced by S. S. Wheeler, one of the Rotary club delegation.

Willis began his talk by praising the association for the work they have performed. His main idea in visiting the township, he said, was for the children. He left at noon for Jackson township, where he speaks this afternoon at a picnic.

Many prizes are offered for various contests, which take place this afternoon. An 8x12 American flag is offered by C. L. Tisot to the school district having the best exhibit of flowers and $100, in cash is to be split in other contests.

The crowd is estimated at about 3,000.

Business houses closed, homes were locked up, village officials took a day off and everybody in Jackson township, it would seem, attended the big Farmers' and Business Men's picnic held in Jackson park, at Lafayette today. Six hundred people mingled together and at noon, partook of a big picnic feast. This was the second annual gathering.

Governor Frank B. Willis, scheduled to speak at the hour of 10 o'clock, was expected at 1 p. m. The Albaster family of Cairo and the Liberty band furnished music.

There was a program of athletic events and musical and literary numbers in the afternoon. Elda met Lafayette on the base ball diamond this afternoon.

The Hon. R. R. Kennedy, of Spencerville, descendant of the first white child born in Allen county, was in charge of the exercises at the historical celebration at Fort Amanda today. He was chairman of the program committee. Mr. Kennedy was born at Fort Amanda.

Commissioners of Allen and Auglaize counties were invited to attend the celebration, looking to their assistance when the proposition of better roads leading to the memorial are under way. A big picnic dinner was served at 11:30 o'clock.

The Hon. William Rusler, of Shawnee township, introduced the subject, "Good Roads." The gathering was a get-together movement to secure better roadways.

Governor Frank B. Willis was scheduled for a talk on the historical value of the fort upon coming generations, this afternoon. Judge John P. Bailey of Ottawa, was one of the speakers. The grove was filled with patriotic societies and humanity who wished to do honors to veterans buried there.

The Spencerville band furnished music throughout the day. The Rev. P. A. Miller, of Spencerville, invoked divine blessing. Vocal numbers were given by Mrs. Esther Swan Lathrop of Fort Amanda, and Howard L. Kay, of Lima.

CHARLES APPELEGATE DIES.

The death of Charles Applegate, 65 years of age, in ill health for some months, occurred today, from cerebral hemorrhage. The body will be accompanied to Lancaster this evening by the Whitley Undertaking company.

PRIMARY RETURNS SLOW.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—Although a week has passed since the primaries, neither unofficial nor official totals on returns are to be had at the office of Secretary of State Hildebrand. Today, three counties are missing on the unofficial list and a half-dozen on the official. Hamilton county has not been heard from. Not until complete returns are in will it be known whether Judge Vickery, of Cleveland, or former Supreme Judge Summers, of Springfield, has been nominated by the republicans for the supreme bench. The republican nomination of Joyce, of Cambridge, for supreme judge, is assured.

NEW YORK—John L. Sullivan, a burglar, failed to live up to his name when Mrs. Mary Pasacus caught him in her aprons. She thrashed him soundly and turned him over to the police.

BERLIN—Business is going on just the same as the home in the German shops behind the battle front. Restaurants, bookstores, jewelry and dentists conduct a large business with soldiers to the tune of "big gun duels."

NEW YORK—Employees in the muff bed shops prevented a strike of girl workers when they granted a demand for ten minutes "priming time."

BRITISH "GAS MAN" TELLS OF HIS HORRID TASK

How Life-Destroying Vapor is Handled at the Front.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—All the horrors of a gas attack as now practiced by both sides are described today in a London newspaper in an article written by a British "gasman", just returned from the front.

He brings the reader into a front trench at twilight and tells of the preparation for the attack as follows:

"Connect up!" The order comes down the line, passed on from one bay of the trench to another. The front rows of neatly piled sandbags of which each fire-step is apparently solidly built are pulled out and disclose a cavity in which show, black and ominous, the cowed heads of a row of iron cylinders. They are sunk in pits specially dug by the gasmen and well 'bagged-up' to protect them from possible crack or puncture by flying fragment or ricocheting bullet. Each cylinder weighs about 130 lbs. and contains sufficient compressed gas, if it could be used without waste, to put an entire company out of action. They have been brought up through the long, tortuously winding communication trenches a night or two ago by an infantry carrying party with much labor and not a little profanity.

"On top of the cylinders lies a tangle of flexible connecting pipes, three and four way joints, spigots, and screw-jets, and upon these, with spanner and key, the gasmen start work. The cylinder covers are removed and the mass of piping is straightened out and pinned neatly in position to the back of the parapet. The cylinders are all connected up in series, and nothing remains but to throw the jets over the top of the parapet and open the valves in order to release the deadly fumes.

"At ten-fifty, the gasmen don their special respirators, which, in the dim light, give the wearers a strange, almost inhuman appearance. Masked and goggled, with weird, trunk-like pieces of hose running from the mouthpiece to the box of air-purifying chemicals strapped to their chests, they look like some of the unearthly beings who people the books of Mr. H. G. Wells. Spanners and keys are laid ready to hand, and the men stand straining their eyes at the wind gauges."

The gasmen wait all night huddled in crowded trenches waiting for a breeze of the right direction.

The hours are enlivened by machine gun and rifle fighting, and force which does not come. It is eight o'clock in the morning before the right conditions for the gas present themselves. The writer continues:

"This time the wind leaves nothing to be desired; a steady breeze is blowing straight towards the German trenches. But, of course, it is now broad daylight, and the gas will be visible as soon as it leaves the pipes. The gasmen know what to expect. They know that as soon as the greenish-grey clouds arise outside their parapet there will be running messengers and hurried telephoning in the German lines. They know that within a few minutes the word will have reached the German big guns at the back, and that every piece capable of flattening out a parapet and burying them, mangled and broken, among their own cylinders will be concentrated upon the front-line trench in which they stand. Beneath their masks their faces may be pale and set, but the hands which already grasp the valve-wheels do not tremble, and their eyes are fixed steadily on the synchronized watches pinned to the parapet.

"Time! Over the top the jet-pipes are flung, and then, simultaneously along almost two miles of trench, there arises a sibilant hiss. Now the gasmen are working frantically with wheel and spanner and key, and the hiss increases in shrillness and volume. Outside the parapet the green poison fog is already spreading like a foul blanket over No-Man's Land. Carried ceaselessly forward by the breeze, its outer edge is rapidly approaching the German trenches, spreading agony and death among those who cannot escape it.

"No rifle or machine-gun fire has been ordered this time, and from either line scarcely a sound is heard except the deadly hiss of the escaping fumes. The minutes pass in tense, ominous quiet.

"Behind their masks the gasmen begin to breathe more freely, and then, suddenly, on the left, 'crash' and 'crash!' again, and yet again. This time on the right, somewhere close at hand. The men crouch lower over their cylinders. The explosions now follow one another almost too rapidly to count, and in any case their minds are no longer fitted to count—or care. Only the valves must be turned, and the pipes must be watched, and the sudden spurt of vapor which marks a leak must be checked by the application of a hand-ful of mud, which the gas itself immediately freezes into an iron-hard and impenetrable mass.

"In one of the bays, the parapet rocks suddenly and falls forward, burying the men and their cylinders. Almost immediately the men scramble out of the debris again, miraculously unhurt; but the pipes are broken and snapped, and gas is filling the trench. With spanner and mud the thing is stopped, new connections are rigged up, and the death vapor is again directed outside what is left of the trench. But one of the men has had the mouthpiece of his respirator broken, and already he is coughing and choking painfully. 'I've got it!' he gasps hoarsely, and goes behind the traverse to suck an ammonia ampule and die slowly.

"In other bays men are struck by flying shell pieces or their limbs fly from them, for fish and bone are but poor, weak stuff against high explosives. Those who cannot walk are dragged behind the traverses, out of the way. That is all! That can be done for them for the moment. Only the pipes must be patched and the gas kept from escaping. Three men who have been working together in one of the bays do not know that anything has happened to them. Death has been mercifully quick. But the escaping gas creeping round the traverses causes the men in the adjoining bays to fix their respirators yet more firmly.

"Closing-up time! Rapidly the valves are shut down, the jet pipes withdrawn and plugged and stacked away. Feverishly the men work at bagging up their cylinders again. They have finished now; they have done their bit, but death may still find them before they can get away.

"Over in the German trenches hundreds of men are choking and gasping in agony for an hour before they can die."

ACCIDENT CAUSES NEW FORD STORY

Machine Damaged in Crash but Driver is Equal to Occasion.

"Jimmy" Ford, property of the Hoffman Meat market and used to deliver table and kitchen necessities to patrons throughout the city experienced cramps in the carburetor while going through the daily routine and dashed into a telephone on Main street, this morning. This fact and later developments give rise to a new story on this popular brand of automobile.

When the "automobile" struck the telephone, it became fastened in the wood as a result of the terrific pact. After exerting much force the driver assisted by a number of sympathetic pedestrians managed to it away from the pole.

But, alas! Investigation indicated that something was wrong with the machinery, as it refused to respond to efforts of the prespiring driver he cranked the engine.

Some bystander advised the use of hinted that probably a little water and gasoline might do some good. However, the driver was not to be outdone and immediately showed that he held an ace up his sleeve. Asking for the five husky volunteers to step forward from the crowd, he clambered into the machine.

When the five assistants had complied with his instructions to push the machine he threw it into gear. The little car immediately responded to the first aid treatment and started merrily on its way down, little the worse for the accident.

POSTAL RULING.

Postmaster J. E. Sullivan today received notice from the federal postal department that upon the discharge of postal employees from the military service, they are to be assigned to the position held by them before leaving the postal service for military duty, and at the same salary.

The statement was given out by the postmaster general because of misleading statements appearing in a few newspapers.

OFFICIAL RETURNS

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—Secretary of State Hildebrand this afternoon announced that complete primary returns show that A. N. Summers of Springfield, has defeated Judge Vickery of Cleveland, as a republican candidate for supreme judge by 7,158 votes. James Joyce of Cambridge, holds first place.

U. S. SHELLS NOT NEEDED IN BRITAIN

Munitions Head Sees Crown Become Independent of American Supplies.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Great Britain is rapidly becoming independent of American munitions supplies, according to a statement made in the house of commons by Edward Samuel Montagu, minister of munitions.

"The American supply of heavy shells has been invaluable to us," said Mr. Montagu, "but with the increasing home and Canadian supplies we hope to be able to do without American shells altogether."

No less than 2,250,000 persons were engaged in the manufacture of munitions in England in June, the minister declared, and this number has been still further increased. Of the total, more than 400,000 were women, he said. He added that 15,000 soldiers had been released from the army to aid in producing shells. The vast total is compared with 11,635 persons engaged in munitions work before the establishment of the ministry which Mr. Montagu heads.

Mr. Montagu pointed out that half of the engineering resources of the country were required for the navy, but declared that very shortly Great Britain would have provided for her own requirements and be able to devote herself exclusively to the wants of her allies in regard to machine guns. Already, he said, she was sending large amounts of guns and munitions to her allies, and in addition was sending to France one-third of her production of shell steel and transferring to her allies metals necessary for munitions to the amount of 6,000,000 pounds monthly.

The production of heavy shells said the minister, is 94 per cent greater than in 1914. There is being produced in four days, he declared, as much howitzer ammunition as was produced during the whole of last year, while there is being turned out every month as many heavy guns as were in existence when the ministry of munitions was formed, an this number would soon be nearly doubled.

The output of machine guns has increased fourteenfold, continued the minister, and there can be turned out in four weeks as many of these implements as existed at the formation of the ministry. The output of high explosives is 60 times as great as a year ago, but the amount required is 11,000 to 12,000 times as great as at the beginning of the war. The output of heavy ammunition, however, he declared, now covers the expenditure.

POLICE CHIEF SUSPENDED.

ALLIANCE, O., Aug. 16.—Following his refusal to resign, Chief of Police R. R. France was suspended by Mayor Charles S. Westover. Malfeasance, misfeasance, nonfeasance, immoral conduct and neglect of duty are charges filed by Mayor Westover before civil service commission. France was appointed seven years ago under a democratic administration. The present mayor is a republican. The chief will fight the case.

FREIGHT CAR FALLS ON HIM.

THREE SUITS DROP INTO DIVORCE MILL

Yesterday had a record of three cases for divorce, filed in court. Two of these were filed after two o'clock. The case of Grace May Summers against Charles Clifford Summers was filed at noon.

William E. Eaton entered suit against Elzina Eaton, to whom he was married in Cario on October 16, 1912. They have no living children.

He says she has failed, refused and neglected to care for her home, cook the meals and perform the duties of a wife, finally abandoning him home.

He asks for divorce and that her dower in his property, lot 56 in Main street, Lima, and lot 11 in Cario, be barred.

Eaton says he does not know the address of his wife, but the last known of her she was in Cario.

Alvin B. June is plaintiff in a suit for divorce from Marie V. June, to whom he was married in Monroe, Mich., on September 12, 1914. One son, born to the couple, is now deceased.

Extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty are the charges made. June's mother-in-law is mentioned in the petition as the cause of part of their trouble.

Before her marriage, the defendant was Marie Vandersall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Vandersall of 214 south Pierce street. The Junes have been living at 210 south Pierce street.

THE IDLER

All members of the Maccabees joint team are earnestly requested to meet with Banner Tent, Thursday, night, August 17, to practice on degree work with new ritual preparatory to going to Defiance. All members of both tents are earnestly requested to be present. Light refreshments will be served.

Property of 323 west Hight street, formerly known as the Stevens property, was sold yesterday by Edward L. Kirk to N. L. Michael, the consideration being $14,000. The sale was made through the realty company of Michael and Fisher.

Employment to a score of men in Lima will be afforded by a real consummated yesterday by the Elmer D. Webb company, realty operators. E. S. Wittel and son, lumber dealers of Short Leaf, Ala., purchased through that agency the planing mill property south of Vine street, east of Main street, formerly operated by J. H. Walter. The consideration was $6,000.

Miss Grace Parker left today for a two weeks visit in Indiana and Illinois. Saturday she will be joined by her mother, Mrs. Levi Parker of Brice avenue.

P. H. Casper, an employee of the Lima Locomotive corporation, became asphyxiated from escaping gas while at his work last night. He was removed to his home at 1048 Reese avenue, in the Eckert invalid coach, and today is said to be recovering.

Mrs. C. M. Ruff was taken from her home at 825 West North street, to the City hospital last night, in the Williams and Davis ambulance.

Bennett Collins, who has been employed as a laborer in Arkansas, became ill and fell to the sidewalk when in front of the Holland block, last night. He was carried into the lobby and given treatment. Collins believed he was suffering from malarial fever. The Eckert invalid coach removed him to the City hospital.

SINKS CASE DISMISSED.

After having lived separate for some months, after which Dr. E. D. Sinks, prominent local physician, is said to have persuaded his wife to return, only to see her file suit for divorce against him later, the case now takes a new angle. Before the court had time to act on the case, the same was ordered dismissed by the wife, Mae Sinks.

OF COURSE, DEMOCRATS GO.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—Three democrats in the state building and loan department are due to lose their jobs as soon as a certified civil service list is received by Leroy J. Silbaugh, new head of the department, it was rumored today. Those slated for ousting are the inspector's clerk and two examiners. They have been holding their places in the past as provisional civil service appointees.

Canziano as well as hostile batteries at Montalcene at the mouth of the river. There were many direct hits. All the machines returned safely.

Terrific fighting has developed in Galicia between Austro-Hungarian troops and Russians on the front lying between the knieister river and a point south of Zalozce, says an official statement, dated August 14, made public by the war office today.

It recounts the repulse of Russian attacks north of Mariampol.

The text of the statement follows.

"Army group of Archduke Karl—On the front south of the Dniester nothing of importance has taken place."

"On the heights north of Mariampol an attacking cavalry brigade was dispersed by our fire."

"Along the whole front between the Dniester and the district south of Zalozce, the Russians entered into close fighting touch with the Teutonic allies."

"Attempts by the enemy to advance south of Horozanka failed."

"West of Kozzyva our troops chased pillaging detachments of the enemy."

"Near Augustowka and Zorow Russian attacks were repulsed and we captured about 400 prisoners."

"Army group of field Marshal von Hindenburg—Southwest of Podkavien the forces of Gen. von Boehn-Ermolli repulsed mass attacks which had been preceded by several hours of artillery drum fire in which many gas shells were used."

"The area in front of our positions were covered with corpses and wounded Russians. This engagement still is in progress. Near Hulevize, on the Stokod river, in Volhynia, a feeble Russian attack broke down."

"South of Stobychwa the sandhill which the Russians had captured was retaken by us and the defenders were made prisoners."

"Italian War Theatre—Strong Italian forces attacked our positions east of the Vallone valley, between the Sokivica and the Up-pach rivers (in the Gorizia area) but were completely repulsed. Seven assaults were delivered. On the heights east of Gorizia and Monte San Gabriele and Monte Santo violent artillery duels are taking place. On the slopes of Civaron height in the Sugana valley district two hostile attacks broke down before our lines."

2,000 BOARD SHIP FOR "NAVAL PLATTSBURG"

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Several hundred enthusiastic young landlubbers boarded the battleships Kentucky and Maine here today for the "naval Plattsburg," a month's cruise in which they will learn to be of service to their country in time of emergency.

At the same time, according to reports received here, the Virginia took aboard a similar contingent at Portland, Me.; the Kearsage at Boston; the Illinois at Newport; the Rhode Island and Alabama at Philadelphia; the Louisiana at Norfolk, Va., and the New Jersey at Charlestown, S. C.

The fixed limit for all the nine ships is 2,000 men and it is believed this number was approximated. Rear Admiral J. M. Helm is commander in chief.

The "rookies" will get substantially the same kind of training as midshipmen from the naval academy have during their training period.

The volunteers range from 19 to 45 years of age. Included are many men prominent in trades and professions.

The cruise will end Sept. 12 and during its last week will be held a mobilization and training cruise of yachts and motor boats. From Aug. 15 to Aug. 20 the citizen sailors will be proceeding to the training rendezvous at Tangle Sound in Chesapeake bay, the gunnery practice ground of the Atlantic fleet. Target practice will be held from Aug. 27 to Sept. 5.

At the end of the cruise each volunteer will be given a certificate by Rear Admiral Helm specifying the duties performed, efficiency displayed and the naval rating he is best qualified to fill. Volunteers also will announce their intention whether they will volunteer for service in

House Approves Naval Bill; Defense Program Complete

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Congress virtually completed the national defense program last night by finally approving the great increases in naval construction and personnel written into the naval bill and urgently supported by the administration. The house accepted the building program, to which its conferees on the measure had refused to agree, by a vote of 283 to 51, with seven of the members present not voting. The personnel increases, on which there also was a disagreement in conference, were approved without a record vote.

The personnel and construction sections, which already have the approval of the senate, authorize an increase in enlisted men to 74,700 and the building of 157 war vessels within the next three years, with four battle cruisers and four battleships included among the ships for 1917. Previously the house had refused to adopt a continuing building program, had authorized only increase capital ships, all of them battle cruisers, and had provided for a personnel of only 65,000.

On several less important sections, including appropriations for improvement of navy yards, the house insisted on its disagreement to senate increases and voted to send the bill back to conference for settlement of these points. An early agreement is expected, however, and the measure may be sent to the president for his signature within a week.

Secretary Daniels issued a statement last night, pointing out that the building authorizations in the bill were the greatest ever passed in any country, and would give the United States, in the opinion of naval authorities, the second largest navy in the world. He declared the measure to be "so complete and nearly perfect that it will stand as a model for all navy bills for future legislatures."

The vote by which the house accepted the senate increase in the building program was nonpartisan. The majority of both democrats and republicans voting in the affirmative. Of the 51 members who voted in the negative there were 35 democrats, 15 republicans and one socialist.

PUBLIC FORUM

REPUBLICAN PERFDY
To the Editor of the Times-Democrat:

The public has been vociferously informed that the democrats administration has not kept its pledges to the people; that President Wilson ought not to be a candidate for reelection, and all that kind of claptrap.

It is pertinent to remind the republican leaders and phrase-makers including Candidate Hughes, that one of the most solemn pledges any party could make to the people was violated in the enactment of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law soon after Mr. Taft was inaugurated president. In response to a popular demand the National Republican Convention in 1908 declared for tariff revision downward. William Howard Taft was nominated for president chiefly because he was regarded as Roosevelt's political heir. A few weeks after his nomination, Mr. Taft made a speech at Milwaukee, Wis., which he said:

"I can say that our party is pledged to a genuine revision and a temporary head of that party and as president of the United States, if it be successful in November, I expect to use all the influence that I have by calling immediately a special session and by recommendation to congress, secure a genuine and honest revision."

Mr. Taft was elected, receiving 321 electoral votes to 162 for Mr. Bryan. There was a republican majority of 28 in the Senate and 47 in the House of Representatives.

How was that solemn pledge to revise the tariff downward kept? It was kept by revising the tariff schedule upward. Mr. Taft signed the bill but made public a statement in which he declared that many of the schedules were "indefensible."

The republican party leaders have deceived the people and to this deception Mr. Taft lent his influence as a candidate for president. The revision of the tariff downward was that the people demanded and for the failure to heed it the republican party was severely rebuked.

WHO OWNS MEXICO?

A recent issue of La Follette's Magazine contains an article, signed by Senator R. M. La Follette of Wisconsin, entitled, "Who Owns Mexico?" In view of the fact that Mr. Hughes devotes so large a proportion of his speech of acceptance to criticism of President Wilson's Mexican policy, this notable article by Senator La Follette acquires renewed interest, and is well worth reading by all students of national politics.

The senator points out that the amount of investments in Mexico by United States capitalists, speculators and promoters is $1,057,770,000 while the amount invested by Mexicans themselves is reported as only $793,187,242. This extraordinary fact, the senator believes, accounts largely for the demand for "intervention" in various quarters.

Important parts of the article are herewith reproduced:

THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES DO NOT WANT WAR WITH MEXICO. THE MEXICAN PEOPLE DO NOT WANT WAR WITH US. And both President Wilson and Carranza have manifestly done everything in their power to avert war.

What is it, then, that menaces the peace of these neighboring countries?

It dates far back of the Columbus raid. That outrage upon the residents of one of our border towns was the logical outcome of conditions for which the MEXICAN PEOPLE WERE IN NO WISE RESPONSIBLE. Worse than that. The Mexican people were really innocent victims of TRAITORS IN OUR MIDST. For it is charged upon the highest authority that THE RAID WAS INSPIRED AND ARRANGED FOR IN OUR OWN COUNTRY!

Do you get the full meaning of that statement? Benedict Arnold was not more guilty of treason.

The secret service of this government has a long arm and a strong arm. The net may be drawn on the "higher-up" who is fair to assume that President Wilson did not disclose all of the facts in his possession when he declared officially a few days after the raid that:

"There were persons along the border actively engaged in creating friction between the governments of the United States and the de facto government of Mexico for the purpose of bringing about intervention in the INTEREST OF CERTAIN OWNERS OF MEXICAN PROPERTIES."

There you have it! The gentlemen who want war with Mexico are the gentlemen who "have Mexican Properties". They are a very powerful lot. They prate about "patriotism". They clamor for "preparedness".

They have tried to plunge the country into a hysteria of fear that we are going to be thrown into war with Germany or England or Japan.

These American "investors" in Mexico—millions—are using every instrument they can control to get their money, their newspapers, their magazines, their political influence, all their "dark and devious ways"—to bring about "intervention". Intervention means war. War means blood, and killing, and bereaved families, and unmentionable horrors. And all for what? Profits! Privilege! Profits! Who owns Mexico? REALLY OWNS IT?

Let us glance at a few figures. Dollars, they are—millions and millions of them. And they tell the story. What follows shows the wealth of Mexico, according to national estimates of ownership. It is taken from the United States Consular Report No. 168 issued July 18, 1912, by Consul Marion Letcher of Chihuahua. This table was prepared by William H. Seamon, late of Chihuahua, who, according to the statement of this consular report, "has had long experience in Mexico as a mining engineer."

Nationality	Amount of Investment
American	$1,057,770,000
English	321,302,800
French	143,446,000
Mexican	793,187,242
Other Nations	118,635,380

Hold fast to these figures. What ever may be urged upon you in these trying times by way of justifying "intervention," keep in mind this big, outstanding fact:

AMERICAN FINANCIERS HAVE MORE MONEY INVESTED IN MEXICO THAN THE MEXICANS THEMSELVES HAVE — $264,582,758 MORE.

AMERICAN INVESTMENTS ARE BIGGEST OF ALL in that unhappy, System-ridden country.

This American money is found in railroad stocks and bonds, mines, national bonds, ranches, smelters, timber lands, factories, oil, rubber, insurance, and other enterprises.

Let us glance at a few more figures from the same authority:

RAILWAY STOCKS—Mexican money invested, $125,440,000; American money invested, $235,464,000.

RAILWAY BONDS—Mexican money invested, $12,275,000; American money invested, $403,926,000.

MINES—Mexican money invested, $7,500,000; American money invested, $223,000,000.

NATIONAL BONDS—Mexican money invested, $21,000,000; American money invested, $52,000,000.

SMELTERS—Mexican money invested, $7,200,000; American money invested, $26,500,000.

TIMBER LANDS—Mexican money invested, $5,600,000; American money invested, $8,100,000.

INDUSTRIES (Miscellaneous)—Mexican money invested, $3,270,000; American money invested $9,600,000.

OIL—Mexican money invested, $4,650,000; American money invested, $15,000,000.

RUBBER—Mexican money invested, $4,300,000; American money invested, $15,000,000.

INSURANCE—Mexican money invested, $2,000,000; American money invested, $4,000,000.

In the OWNERSHIP of Mexico we find the REAL MENACE to the peace between Mexico and the United States. American capitalists are desperately attempting to have THE FLAG FOLLOW THEIR INVESTMENTS.

They who own Mexico are the ones who can start war.

Shall these powerful interests be permitted to succeed in their plot?

ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE.

John L. Sullivan, editor of the St. Marys Leader, one-time Republican state central committeeman and Bull Moose candidate for secretary of state in 1912, has come out for President Wilson. We had a hunch, when Teddy sold out at Chicago, that he couldn't deliver that Progressive vote. The Bull Moose who can be delivered isn't progressive.

The man who has something to sell is never slow about grabbing at a juicy proposition. Already men who have sites to sell for post-offices has started to boom their corners. The South Side wants the office over across the Jordan. And the United States government's $85,000 will be royally entertained during the period of indecision.

Frank B. Willis and James M. Cox debated at Franklin yesterday, says a dispatch. That's wrong, Eustace, that's all wrong. Mr. Cox debated and Mr. Willis just talked.

It never rains but it pours. First sharks, then infantile paralysis, then a threatened railroad strike—the Republicans have lots of things to blame on Wilson.

SOME TIMELY TALK ABOUT PROBABLE HIGHER BREAD COST

That the country must prepare for an advance in the price of the 5 cent loaf of bread within two weeks, the loaf going to 6 cents—and that the housewife's refuge from this advance in price lies in buying the 10 cent loaf is the warning and advice contained in a statement made by Paul Schulze, president of the Schulze Baking Company, Chicago.

"With the leading brands of flour at the unprecedented price of $8.10 a barrel to the dealer, and with every indication that it will mount higher, the housewife must forthwith with concern herself with the problem of the bread-buying situation," Mr. Schulze says. "If flour prices remain at their present high figure—and my information from the wheat fields of the northwest lends me to fear that they will go higher—it will be impossible for bakers to sell the small sized loaf at 5 cents. We are already confronted with the necessity of raising the price to 6 cents.

"Nevertheless everybody for a time at least may buy bread as economically, even with the small loaf at 6 cents. Bakers can continue to sell the large size, or 10 cent loaf, at its present price. From the standpoint of quality, taste and economy, that is the size to buy anyhow.

"As I said, for a time we can bake the 10-cent loaf in the same size as heretofore. This we shall be able to do because of the labor cost saved in baking and handling the larger loaf. It does not take any more labor to make and cut dough for the 10-cent loaf than for the 5-cent loaf. It takes no more labor in handling it to and from the ovens, in wrapping it, loading it on the wagons and delivering it to the stores. All this saving we can turn to the relief of the housewife in these high wheat times.

"The big 10-cent loaf is the ideal and practical loaf of the household. Some housekeepers have objected to it on the ground that their families do not eat the entire loaf in a day and they did not care to keep the remainder of the loaf until the next day if they will wrap the left-over piece in the up-to-date original air-tight wrapper, it will keep as fresh as it was the first day. Furthermore, bread on the second day is more wholesome than on the first. One good way to save money is to toast the left-over bread.

"I cannot too much emphasize the danger of flour prices going higher, and when they do the bakers will be helpless, so far as maintaining bread prices at their present level is concerned. From the great wheat sections of the Dakotas and Minnesota I have positive information that but a small percentage of the crop forecasted from them will be delivered. The blight and rust, developed by the intense heat in the northwest, have cut the yield to a minimum. This means high priced flour with small chance of a retreat in the prices.

"I most certainly believe an embargo should be placed on wheat. We have, it is true, enough wheat in this country for this year. But should the wheat crop next year be a failure, our country would face a calamity.

"The country generally, faces an increase in the price of the 5-cent loaf of bread. But no evil is as bad as it first appears. If the present high price of wheat teaches the housewife to buy the 10-cent loaf of bread, it will have accomplished a great lesson in domestic economy."

TO OPEN CAMP PERRY.

PORT CLINTON, O., Aug. 16.—Major John C. Unger, who is to have charge of the commissary department at Camp Perry, has arrived from Camp Willis to open the camp prior to the arrival of the First and Seventh regiments and Ninth Battalion, August 19.

NERVOUS, APPETITE GONE, LIVER NOT ACTING?

A Wineglassful of Tollo Water Will Make Your Liver Act Freely in Half an Hour.

Medical science has proven that the bile made by the liver is Nature's only laxative. When the liver is doing its work properly the bile flows freely into the bowels, keeping them regular as a clock. When the bile tubes become clogged the bile is forced back into the system, causing sallow skin, nervousness, loss of appetite, headaches, gassy stomach, heartburn and other symptoms of "biliousness."

Concentrated Tollo Water from Dawson Springs gives the surest and quickest relief. You can prove it by taking a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water. It will dissolve the obstructions in the bile tubes and wash out the liver and bowels just as thoroughly and clean as soap and water bathes your skin.

Just the minute your liver is clean and active your nerves become quiet and the appetite normal. You can eat what you like without pain or inconvenience afterwards. Get a 15-cent bottle from the drug store and try it before breakfast tomorrow morning. It is not like strong drugs that upset the stomach and weaken the system; it builds as it cleans. Take a little every morning until the complexion returns to its natural pink shade and the appetite is good. After that an occasional wineglassful before breakfast will keep the liver active and the bowels regular.

MINERS GAIN POINT.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 16.—Differences having been adjusted, 2,500 striking coal miners in the Athens field returned to work today, it was announced by John Moore, president of the Ohio United Mine Workers. The miners quit work several days ago when operators raised the price of powder. The operators have agreed to restore the old price and refund the 25 cents difference to the miners at the next pay day. Details of the settlement were worked out at a conference here today between operators, miners and President Moore.

HOLD FUNERAL EXERCISES AT GEN. GRANT TOMB

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The annual funeral exercises at President Grant's splendid tomb on the Hudson river in this city are being held this afternoon. The day originally set was August 8, but the ceremonies were postponed because this date was the anniversary of the destruction of Jerusalem by Titus, an occasion of Jewish mourning, and the only survivor of the palbearers of General Grant is Rabbi Brown.

STATE CANDIDATES' REPORTS.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 16.—Attorney General Turner today filed his preliminary expense account with the secretary of state. He received nothing and spent nothing. W. D. Fulton, of Newark, successful democratic candidate for secretary of state received nothing and spent $228; Scott Stahl, of Port Clinton, democratic candidate for attorney general, spent $261 and received nothing. Carl F. Antonech, democratic candidate for secretary of state received nothing and spent $45.

BRITISH AIRMEN HONOR DEAD ENEMY

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—It has just become known that Lieutenant Immelmann, the famous German flyer who lost his life nearly two years ago in a battle in the air on the western front, was honored in a touching manner by the British airmen after his death.

A correspondent reports that on June 30 a British aeroplane threw a large tin box into the park of a castle in northern France. The box contained a wreath of fresh flowers with a black ribbon and the following note:

"A tribute to First Lieutenant Immelmann, who died in battle June 18th. We honor the memory of a brave and honorable enemy.—The British Fighting Squadron."

FRESH AIR IS THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

There is nothing a man thinks so much of as his life, and there is nothing he does less to preserve. Yet the fountain of youth is everywhere about us. It gives off the elixirs of life—sunshine and fresh air.

Whenever you have the opportunity let in the sunshine—it may fade some of your carpets; it may show some dust or a spot on the wall; it may even make you less comfortable for a while, but it will burn to death the germs of disease.

Get some fresh air into your home. Take long breaths. Get your cellars and closets open and you will discourage the cause of your illness. Remember the houses "back home" where, when visitors were seen coming someone had to run in and put up the shades in the best room? Remember how damp and musty that room used to smell?

Some people refer to them as those "good old-fashioned" houses. Old-fashioned, yes, but after seeing some records of those who died there from tuberculosis, we can't say much for their "goodness."

HIS WIFE RESCUES WOULD-BE SUICIDE

Owen Ridenour, living near the city limits on West Robb avenue, made an unsuccessful attempt to end his life by means of a rope last night at the hour of bed time at their home. He was discovered by his young wife, Mrs. Mary Ridenour, 25 years old, who cut down the body, called the services of Dr. A. C. Adams and the Williams and Davis ambulance and saved his life. At the hospital it was announced at midnight he would recover. Ridenour has been ill for some months. This caused his mind to be partially unbalanced. Mrs. Ridenour said she had feared the worst. Ridenour is 30 years old.

HAVARIANS COMPLAIN OF PRUSSIAN METHODS.

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—The tension between Prussia and Bavaria continues and the newspapers of the latter kingdom are very bitter in their comments on the food situation and the way it has been handled.

by the food dictator, Herr von Bockel, when they from the very first accused of robbing Bavaria for the benefit of Prussia.

"Before the war," the Munich Neueste Nachrichten says, "Bavaria sent out of the kingdom only 13,000 heads of cattle annually. Now she exports more than three times that number. Before the war she imported annually 2,000 pigs, but now she does not get any. She furnishes more meat to the army than Prussia and still the Prussian meat cards give the Prussian consumer advantages which the holders of Bavarian meat tickets do not get.

"If you discover anything, you discover that Bavaria, so far from profiting from the present situation, is being victimized more than any other state."

WHAT

Would the Modern Farmer Do IF HE COULDN'T HAVE A TELEPHONE IN HIS HOME?

Suppose you were living on a farm, with a telephone as your only means of communication in winter, on stormy nights and in times of need. Suppose it were taken from the wall by some political change in the city from which you were served. When you needed assistance in case of fire, or a doctor in case of accident or illness, or something equally pressing, what would you do without the telephone as a speedy friend in emergencies?

The farmer relies on the instrument as his aid, his agent in selling crops, his entertainment in a friendly chat with a neighbor a few miles down the road. He uses the telephone as much in proportion to the volume of his business as does the attorney or the broker—and his work in life is not all a matter of ploughing and harvesting. He is on a business basis, just the same as a city man, and the great majority of the farmers of the Middle West are patrons of the telephone systems in their localities.

Hundreds of the telephone connections operated from the Lima exchange are rural. The entire countryside around Allen county is dotted with homes in which are telephones served from the local office. What would become of them if the city of Lima undertook to assume the management of the local exchange?

The movement urging the conversion of the local plant into a municipal system is tied to certain statutes. The city can issue mortgage bonds to pay for the property and operate with a franchise as security for the bonds. But that applies to a city system. There are a great many farm houses on the list of patrons. What is to become of them under the proposed scheme? Are they to be ignored entirely?

JUDGING

"OF COURSE, SHE might not have seen me, but it seemed odd that she wouldn't, when she looked straight at me, and never even noticed me."

Such was the complaint of my young friend the other day when her sister failed to speak to her.

After a few minutes the sister in question came to me, and with a laugh which carried a huge amount of understanding, said:

"Do you know I could say that very same thing about Doris, if I cared to. I can't begin to number the times she has passed me on the street without so much as a nod. I knew, of course, she was preoccupied, and really didn't see me. And I wasn't hurt. I simply understood, because any number of times I have done the same thing myself."

And we all have. But I'll admit it isn't a good thing to cultivate. I know how ridiculous one feels when one speaks to a person, and said person walks on, utterly oblivious of our unassuming presence, just as if said person was in a trance, or first cousin to the Kaiser.

Then, instead of feeling mortally hurt, we would think, "Wonder what's on their mind now," and just dismiss it from our minds, we would be doing the big and right thing.

However, when we take it as a personal affront, a "snubbing," we are showing ourselves to be strongly possessed of that terrible ego disease. And the place most affected by that disease is the mind's eye.

When we criticize our fellow we ought to be sure we have the right. We never have the right, you know, if we are guilty of the same thing ourselves. And when we come to sum it up, how many of the things we criticize, are we NOT guilty of?

SUPPOSE
How dreary would the meadows be in the pleasant summer light; Suppose there wasn't a bird to sing, And suppose the grass was white!

And dreary would the garden be With all its flowery trees, Suppose there were no butterflies, And suppose there were no bees.

And what would all the beauty be, And what the song that cheers; Suppose we hadn't any eyes, And suppose we hadn't ears?

For though the grass were gay and green, And song-birds filled the glen, And the air were purple with butterflies, What good would they do, then?

Ah, think of it, my little friends, And when some pleasure flies, Why, let it go, and still be glad, That you have your ears and eyes.
—Alice Cary.

—Julie Lippmann: Making Over

MISS ELIZABETH NEWSON entertained this afternoon at her lovely home on Franklin street. Members of the Girls' Bridge club attended and bridge was the diversion of the afternoon. Delicious refreshments were served at the conclusion of the games.

Guests were the Misses Lenore Boose, Elizabeth Brice, Mary Stolzenbach, Grace Spillacy, Kathryn Wyre, Marie Nagle, Esther Wemmer, Helen Wemmer, Frances Wright, Hortense Spillacy, Cecil Dillon, and Mrs. George Mehahey.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Enck and son James, motored to Columbus for the day.

At the meeting yesterday of the Trinity Aid society plans were discussed for the entertaining of 200 wives of Western Ohio ministers Saturday, September 9, when the Western Ohio M. E. conference will be held here.

Election of officers was postponed until the September meeting and a nominating committee appointed are Mrs. Frank Mullenhour, Mrs. Halli Hoyer, and Mrs. Thomas Peate. Mrs. N. H. Hiner and the Misses Bernadine Hoyer and Gladys Schleier gave several pretty musical numbers. Refreshments concluded the meeting. Mrs. J. A. Murlin and committee being in charge of the social hour.

In 1915 an article appeared in a well-known monthly pointing out to the educated young woman some of the apparent, and as events have proved, real, attractions of the retail book business as a life calling. The Publishers' Weekly says that this article "has probably opened up a larger number of possible new stores than any other single suggestion in the history of the American book trade." If this effect has been wrought where war has not forced upon women problems of maintenance, present and future, the plan will be equally effective in countries within the war zone, when peace comes.

Miss Lena Grossman of Detroit, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. B. Romanoff of Richie avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. William Young spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Enos Snyder of Wapakoneta.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Linneman will meet Miss Rose Agert and Mr. W. J. McLaughlin for the Cuthbert golf cup at the Shawnee country club. Preparations are being made for the start of the match for the Thrift trophy.

Mrs. E. W. Mendenhall and children of Columbus, are visiting friends and relatives in this city.

Miss Nora Hollingsworth of St. Mary's was the hostess of a house party at her cottage at Idelwild. Among the Lima guests were Misses Edna Frances, Blanche Redd, Katharine Yokum, Bertha Metzger, Maude Michael, Messrs. Henry South, Maude Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Barr.

The Misses Adda and Hazel Stewart returned Saturday from Pittsburgh, where they were the guests of relatives for the past two weeks.

Miss Rhea Dixon is spending the week with Miss Alice Stamats of Bellefontaine.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Munk of Wapakoneta, have returned to their home after several days visit with friends in this city.

Miss Lavina Bornhurst of Minster is the guest of friends in this city.

Mrs. J. C. Pence has returned from Ft. Wayne, where she spent several days at the St. Joseph hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rosscup and Miss Jesse have Friday for the week end at Russell's Point.

Postponement of the picnic to be held Thursday at McCullough's park by the members of the L. F. D. club was made yesterday.

Dr. and Mrs. I. F. Steiner, Dr. and Mrs. Oliver Steiner and Mrs. Clinton Sealts left today to spend a week at Orchard Island.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Chase have returned from Dayton. They will motor to Dayton, Saturday, for their son Frederick, who is spending several days with his grandmother, Mrs. H. W. Pears.

Mrs. W. L. Neville and son Wesley, have returned from the Nevilhu Cottage at Indian lake.

Miss Elizabeth Parrett, has returned from Chautauqua, N. Y.

Miss Helen Williams left yesterday for Chautauqua, N. Y. She will return the first of the week with Miss Veldren Smith, who has been taking a summer course in Library work.

FOR SUMMER SUPPER TABLE.

Desserts that can be made in the morning, leaving the long summer day free for sports, or reading, or sewing, or visiting and yet that will make the supper served under the trees seem a veritable party, are those that combine the fresh ripe fruits with some form of jelly or frozen cream. Here are two or three such recipes:

Peach Trifle—Immediately after breakfast, heat two tablespoons of milk and dissolve it in a packet of gelatin. When it is cool, add to it one pint of cream and a half-cup of sugar. Whip it to a solid froth and flavor with almond extract. Color one-third of the cream a delicate pink with coloring matter. Place the white cream in sherbet glasses, lay half a peeled peach on it, and spread the pink cream over the top. Keep on ice until the supper hour.

Another peach dessert that can be prepared in the morning is made by mixing an envelope of gelatin with one cup of sugar, and dissolving both in a cup of boiling water. When it is cool, add a half cup of orange juice and the juice of one lemon. Peel and halve fresh ripe peaches, lay them in a glass bowl, and pour the gelatin mixture over them. Place on ice until evening, and serve with cream.

A pretty raspberry dessert is made as follows: Mix thoroughly a packet of plain gelatin and a half cup of sugar and dissolve them in one cup of hot red-raspberry juice. Set in a cool place until it thickens; then beat in one cup of cream whipped to a stiff froth, turn into a wet mold and set away until firm. Peach or pineapple juice may be used if the raspberries are not to be had.

As soon as the first cranberries come, a delicious cranberry-Bavarian cream can be prepared and set away for a special luncheon or supper party. Rub a packet of gelatin to a smooth paste in two tablespoons of boiling water, and to this add enough boiling water to make a half cup. Add one cup of sugar, and, when cool, fold in two cups of whipped cream. Stir until nearly stiff, then add three tablespoons of wild cherry juice, and one cup of cranberry juice. Pour into a wet mold.

ROBBERS GET PEARL NECKLACE BOUGHT WITH STEEL WINNINGS

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—To-

MISS ANN G. BARNITZ

day Miss Ann G. Barnitz, a popular Brooklyn girl, is mourning the loss of a $10,000 pearl necklace, which she recently purchased with her winnings in steel stock.

The necklace was stolen from Miss Barnitz's room while on a visit to Long Beach. She is making a personal canvass of New York pawn shops in an endeavor to locate the necklace, after the police failed to find any clue to it.

Daily Fashion Hint

A plain collar of striped silk trimmed with covered buttons. This is one of the models recently selected in a neckwear competition to decide on standard styles for the coming season.

Fruit pudding is made with two envelopes of gelatin, one cup of pineapple, grated, one cup of sugar, one cup of strawberry pulp (if the strawberries are gone any other fruit pulp will do), and two cups of cream. Mix one of the packets of gelatin with a half cup of boiling water. Set it aside to cool, and when it begins to thicken add one cup of whipped cream. Just before it sets, stir in the grated pineapple, mix thoroughly, and turn into a mold. Make a second portion of gelatin the same as the first, using the strawberry or peach pulp—or whatever fruit is chosen—instead of the pineapple. Set the second mixture aside until cool but not jelled, then pour it on top of the pineapple mold, which should be already solid, and set in the refrigerator. When ready to serve, unmold and surround with whole strawberries, cherries, halves of peaches, red raspberries, or any other fresh fruit.

A fruit sponge which also uses gelatin makes a pleasant variation. Dissolve a packet of gelatin and a cup of sugar in boiling water, and add fruit juice (raspberry, strawberry, grape, or any other rich juice) to make one pint. When it begins to jell, add the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, and whip them in thoroughly. Pour into a mold and place on ice. This can, if desired, be made without eggs by beating the jelly thoroughly when it begins to jell.

Mrs. Walter Gray and grandson, Gray Kinsely, of South Baxter street, left today for a week at Cedar Point.

Be an Individual

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

ANIMALS huddle together for warmth or protection, but human beings have to meet their crises alone. They have to, whether they like it or not. The Scotch say, "Each of us must dree his ain weid." And there lies the whole matter in a nutshell.

Our sorrows, our joys—all of our experiences, in fact—befall us as individuals and no one can share them with us.

A little girl I know used to say whenever she was told, "Children, don't do that," and "Little girls always do this," "Yes, but I'm a person."

A wonderful bit of philosophy the child had if she had followed it far enough.

Each of us ought to remember that he or she is an individual—a person. But besides being an individual there must be the consciousness of all the other individuals who, for social and great natural reasons, have to be banded together into groups. One has simply to be conscious of the two things and not to subordinate one to the other.

There is no better illustration of this than the foolish way we all "huddle" in the cars. People come rushing along and crush and scramble and endure the utmost discomfort just because it doesn't occur to them to separate themselves from the crowd.

Watch for yourself some day. See one man or woman after another running down the stairs and attaching himself or herself to the fringes of the central group waiting in a subway station. A few people walk to the forward or rear end of the platform, but most individuals seem almost magnetized into attaching themselves to the central group.

In life the people who get on, who amount to something, are not those who are lost in the central group of the ordinary and average, but those rather who have the courage to separate themselves and seek out places where they can assert their own personality. One doesn't gain success by trying to find a foothold on the ladder of success at the exact point where a group is already struggling.

The ladder of success is wide. There is room for numberless people thereon, but they have to find their own places.

Studying yourself as an individual, finding your own point of difference and seeking progress along individual lines separated from great mass movements, is the real way to assure yourself of success in forging ahead.

Remember that "you are a person"—that your experiences may be similar to everyone else's, that your desires may be simple world-old repetitions of human nature, that your sorrows and tribulations are of repeated stories—but that in spite of all this they are for the time being yours!

This means that you haven't the right to force a description of them on anyone else and that you cannot expect anyone else to enter into them and share them fully.

You are an individual. You must go through your own experiences. You must work out your own salvation.

'STEEPLE JACK' TIM SCANLON IS SLAIN

DAYTON, O., Aug. 16.—Tim Scanlon, 39, steeple-jack, believed to have relatives in Youngstown, died in a local hospital here this morning, from gunshot wounds received in a hold-up at Troy, last Saturday night. His intestines were seven times penetrated by bullets.

Saturday, Scanlon left Dayton and went to Troy, where he had obtained employment, and it is said was approached Saturday night by two colored men who demanded what money he had earned. He refused to hand over the money and, it is said, one of the colored men whipped out a revolver and shot him. Troy police had him sent to Dayton for treatment but were unable to locate the men who did the shooting. Scanlon said one wore a dark hat and one a light hat.

WAGES ARE INCREASED.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16.—Wages of laborers in the street cleaning and street repair departments were increased 50 cents a day to establish a $2.50-a-day minimum pay by the city board of control. The increase dates from August 1.

HEALTH BOARD METHODS.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—The only daily time sheet to be found in any state department is at the offices of the state health board. At least this has been the experience of state examiners who have made a tour of all state departments, including commissions. The only employee of the health board required to give bond is the plumbing inspector, according to state examiner Hogan who has just completed an investigation of the board's books. No discounts were credited to the board last year, said Hogan, in the payment of bills. Even discounts on water and telephone bills, it is claimed, were lost through late payment.

Liver Trouble.
"I am bothered with liver trouble about twice a year," writes Joe Dieman, Webster City, Iowa. "I have pains in my side and back and an awful soreness in my stomach. I heard of Chamberlain's Tablets and tried them. By the time I had used half a bottle of them I was feeling fine and had no signs of pain." Obtainable everywhere. no-wed-fr.

MARRYING A BUTTERFLY

By MRS. EVA LEONARD

Ralph's Mother Gives Her Son a New Idea as to What Marriage Means.

"NOW, RALPH," said his mother when she had put away the last of the tea things and they had returned to the living room, "tell me all that has happened. Where is Ethel?" she questioned as he did not begin.

"I do not know," he said simply, looking into his eyes.

"Have you done anything to find out where she has gone?" continued Mrs. Gordon. Ralph shook his head.

"Why should I? She has money enough to come home. She knows my address, and she has neither written nor appeared."

"I am having a good rest for my unstrung nerves. She probably is enjoying the separation as much as I am. We act like poison to each other."

Mrs. Gordon sat silent for some time then she said:

"Ralph there is no such easy solution of your difficulties as that Marriage lasts till you die." As he made no answer she continued "You insisted on having your own way, would not listen to any advice. You are certainly man enough to abide by the consequences. I should blush for you if you were not."

"Mother do not misjudge me. I have tried to be patient. I have borne all sorts of discomfort and have not whined. But if I cannot trust my wife, I can not see how a life can be patched up between us."

Ralph was leaning his head on his hand and sadly looking into the fire. "You are judging her by standards that which apply to me or any grown woman. You must remember she is a child," said his mother gravely. "A child? She is 21 years old. When is she to cease to be a child?" Ralph asked excitedly.

"I do not know," was the sad answer. "She must be trained in responsibility and high moral sense."

"That is a parent's task; not a husband's," he blurted out. "When you chose to marry a child, you chose the responsibility not only of a husband but of a parent as well. You have not realized that, it seems." Mrs. Gordon looked earnestly at her son.

"But suppose she refuses to learn. A parent can force a child to do certain things. A husband can not. However much of a child she is, she thinks she is a woman and she resents any interference with her liberties."

Ralph was talking excitedly. His mother softly patted his hand to quiet him and said:

"Of course, that is where the difficulty will lie. You must not minimize the difficulties of your problem. That will but make it harder. There must be a right way to approach her to make her see the necessity of a change."

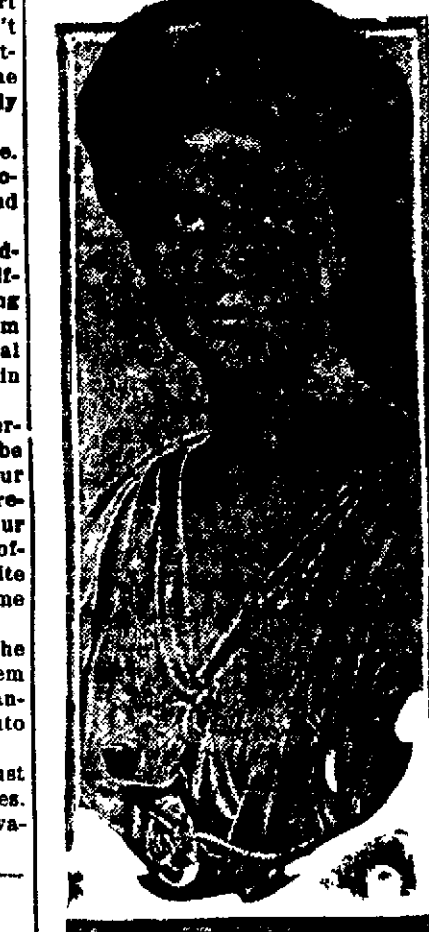

"Well, I have tried coaxing and scolding and letting her alone and nagging and—"

"It is too big a problem to attack at 11 o'clock at night," interrupted his mother, looking at her watch. "Let us go to bed now and we will try to work out a plan together." She rose and kissed him good night, saying:

"You can always find the right way if you look for it with the earnest desire to do the right thing."

HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

Wife Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctors stated that I would never get well without an operation and that without it I would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced to get better and am now well, am stout and able to do my own housework. I can recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who is sick and run down as a wonderful strength and health restorer. My husband says I would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. BLANCHET JAFFERSON, 703 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Before submitting to a surgical operation it is wise to try to build up the female system and cure its derangements with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it has saved many women from surgical operations. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice—it will be confidential.

Crafty McCoy Is Winner From a Fast Young Lad

By Frank G. Menke.
NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Another Kid McCoy story, which Willie Lewis delights to tell, concerns the McCoy-Jim Stewart scrap in New York back in 1908.

That fight marked McCoy's first real ring appearance since his retirement six or eight years before, said Lewis. "At the time, the Kid was something like 36 years old and very much out of shape. Stewart, on the other hand, was just in his prime. Many touted him as the coming champion.

"The fight took place in New York and was scheduled to go six rounds. Friends of the Kid told him he was crazy to go on with the match, pointing out that he didn't have a chance in the world against the fact and hard-hitting Stewart.

"Mebbee not—and mebbe I have," was the Kid's answer. "There's lots of tricks in this trade and I've just thought out one that will let me win this fight."

"Whereupon, all the 'wise ones' laughed sarcastically.

Ancient Kid Scores Knockdown.
"In the first round of that fight McCoy amazed the crowd by rushing Stewart. After he had chased him a bit, the Kid stopped, as though winded. Stewart figured that the Kid actually was all-in because of his furious opening attack. So Stewart suddenly decided to rush McCoy and try for a knock-out.

"Stewart raced in, swung at the Kid and—missed. A fraction of a second later a terrific right crashed against Stewart's jaw. That punch carried behind it all the power that was in the over-plus body of Kid McCoy. When it landed, Stewart staggered for a minute and then sank to the mat.

"At the count of nine he arose to his feet, but before McCoy could rush in again, the round ended.

"That first round had used up McCoy. The exertion took from him all his reserve energy he had. That punch landed sapped the last real strength within him. McCoy was through right there, and Stewart had been known it, probably could have gone out and finished McCoy before the end of the third round.

"But Stewart didn't know it. Furthermore, Stewart was the most surprised man in the house that night. That McCoy wallop was totally unexpected. It robbed him of his early confidence and got him to thinking that, after all, this McCoy person was still able to put away real fighters.

McCoy "Threatens" Stewart.
"Stewart, as I have stated, was just then on the ascendant. He was aiming for the championship. To be knocked out by the ancient McCoy would be a killer for him as far as title aspirations were concerned. And McCoy, crafty, shrewd McCoy, had that all figured out before the fight. He knew what effect it would have on Stewart if he could plant a knockdown punch in the first round. That is why the Kid took the long chance he did and used up all his real power in shooting that wallop.

"When the second round began, Stewart came out cautiously from his corner. McCoy met him in the center and made a swing that threw him—as he intended—into a clinch. "No rough stuff from now on, Stewart—no rough stuff," McCoy chanted into Stewart's ears. "Take it easy from now on or I'll shoot over another punch and knock you dead. D'ya hear?"

"A little while later in that round McCoy fell into another intentional clinch with Stewart.

"That's right, old boy; just keep on taking it easy," he said to Stewart. "Don't try any slugging. Just box—that's all. If you try to slip over any hard punch I'll put you down and out a second later. Then your career will be ended because it will look bad for an old man to knock you out."

"Shortly after the third round opened, Stewart thought he detected signs of weariness about McCoy. He decided that the Kid was bluffing. But the Kid didn't have a good wallop left in his system. Stewart made up his mind to slam McCoy with a terrible right. He shot over the punch, but McCoy blocked it with startling cleverness and then clinched.

Kid's Bluff Works.
"Say, you poor boob, didn't I tell you not to get rough?" snarled McCoy. "Try that punch again and you're through—get me? You're through. I'm a has-been and if I knock you out you're a has-been too. You're a pretty good kid and I'll let you stay the limit if you are nice; but if you get funny, you'll go down and out."

"And from then on Stewart never made a real effort to knock out McCoy. The poor, old, winded and all-in Kid McCoy, using his crafty brain, was able to throw fear into the stout heart of Jim Stewart; was able by that one and only punch he had, and by his shrewdness to stave off a knockout by the husky Stewart; was able to last out the six rounds and gain a popular decision over a youngster, who should have been able to send him into dreamland at any time after the second round opened.

Red Hose Win From Nationals

BOSTON, Aug. 16.—"Babe" Ruth came out the victor in a 13-inning pitching duel with Walter Johnson yesterday, the Boston Americans defeating Washington in the latter's final appearance at Fenway park this season, 1 to 0. For 12 innings Johnson held the Red Sox to four widely scattered hits. The thirteenth session was his undoing, the champions getting three hits in this inning, netting them the game's only run.

Barry led off with a drive which caromed off Johnson's hand when he attempted to stop it, and went for a hit. Lewis struck out and Hoblitzel flied to Millan, Walker singled to center, Barry making third on the hit. Gardner connected for his third hit of the day, with a single to center, and Barry scored. Score: Wash., 0; Boston, 1.

Batteries: Johnson and Ainsmith; Ruth and Thomas.

Philadelphia-New York.
NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—New York won an even break in its series with Philadelphia here yesterday, the Yankees taking the last game, 6 to 2. New York hit William hard.

The score: Philadelphia, 000001001-2 4 0; New York, 00301020x-6 1 1. Batteries: Williams and Haley; Shawkey and Nunamaker.

JOE RIVERS.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—Joe Rivers, the Los Angeles lightweight title, if his present plans work out successfully, Joe has not been in the ring for several months. He is now in prime condition, he says and is ready to slash his way through the lightweight division to earn the right to box Freddie Welsh for the title. Ever since Rivers hurt his knee in a ten-round battle with Ritchie Mitchell in Cincinnati, he has practically been on the shelf. He is anxious to dig up an opponent for a bout on Labor day.

SHORT SPORT

The drive for the pennant is now on in earnest in both leagues. Although the leaders in the National are idle today, the Red Sox begin another "crucial" series, having the White Sox for opponents.

Walter Johnson pitched his arm off to beat the champions, only to lose out in the thirteenth.

The Yankees continue to find the Athletics easy. It will be the Browns turn to pick on Connie Mack's band today.

Tesreau allowed the Phillies only two hits. But he could not stop the errors or have his team-mates hit and the Giants lost again, making it four straight to the Phillies.

The Braves and Phillies are only three games behind the Dodgers. The trio clash with the same teams for the next two weeks. After that the fur will fly.

The Pirates woke up and won two games, the Cardinals being the victims.

AKRON.—Pastus Polls, 17, of Chicago, leaped from a freight train at the union depot and fell directly in the path of another. He was painfully hurt.

Favorites and Unknown Win at Cranwood

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 16.—James C. Reach wants $15,000 from the St. Louis ball team because a ground official accused him of having pocketed a ball that was knocked into the grand stand. Reach declares that because a ball came in his direction, the policeman took him into the company's office and humiliated him, and now he has filed suit for the $15,000.

TOLEDO.—Thomas Lane, 36, of Reading, Pa., was instantly killed last night when his motorcycle skidded. His skull was fractured by the fall.

One of the best meets so far this season was closed last week at Cranwood driving park, Cleveland, where the Ohio Racing circuit was in session. Favorites split 50-50 in crossing the wire with unknown bobbing out of the field.

One of the biggest surprises handed sports attending the meeting was the win by Solomon Boy of the $1,000 stake in the 2:10 pace. Considered at the start of the auction pool a rank outsider, it was possible to purchase him in the field for $10 on a ticket calling for a total of $143.

Barlight, a brown gelding by Falsbert, with Mann up, took the first two heats but was unable to stand the pace set in the last three by sturdy Solomon Boy. Polly Ann, All Wilkes and Billy Fair were favorites in the event.

In the 2:23 trot for a purse of $400, Gall McKinney, the favorite, came through for ticket holders, but the judges were of the opinion that Atlanta Peter could have won the race and called off bets. However, the McKinney mare was awarded first money.

Other favorites who ran true to form were: Theda Bara, The Toddler, The Acme, Black Wreath, Ted McEwen, Walnut Maid, Andy McKinney and Gum Drop.

PARCEL POST TAKES U. S. GOODS CLEAR TO FAR OFF CHINA

Celestials Dress in American Clothes, Use Yankee Wall Paper, etc.

Great Market for Mail Order Trade Opened by New Postal Plan.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 15.—If you want to travel in China and get the benefit of old-time local color and quaint customs the time for your voyage is growing short. If you delay, you may find the Chinese coolie dressed in the latest American-made hand-me-downs, the shaggy ponies harnessed with American harness, his thatched hut papered with the latest design in wall-paper and adorned with chromos and lithographs struck off in U. S. A. We have just put into effect a parcel-post agreement with the Chinese republic. Four hundred million people are added to the mail-order market of the United States. Anything that can be shipped to any part of China for twelve cents a pound.

This is likely to prove an important step for both countries in many ways. For China, it means that she is able to trade in the world's biggest mail-order market under conditions practically as favorable as those of American citizens living in remote states. For the United States it means a chance to attack the Chinese market problem from a new angle. China is recognized as the greatest market in the world in many ways. The field is practically undeveloped. The country is densely populated and by no means poor. The people are not a manufacturing people; they are a typical buying nation. They are just beginning to ask for the products of western manufactures. It has long been clear that China represents a good American opportunity.

The chief drawback has been the uncertainty of local conditions. Americans have been slow to put their money in China, outside a few big treaty ports, because a disturbance of some sort or another was always likely to arise which would mean a heavy loss. But if the Chinese market can be served by mail to any great extent, with stock and plant safe on American soil, and no risk necessary in China except a catalogue printed in Chinese, there would seem to be a chance for the enterprising exporter.

An immense number of small articles, both cheap and expensive can be ordered and shipped outright under the eleven-pound limit system. But Mr. R. L. Maddox, our superintendent of foreign mails, believes that the most important results of the new parcel-post convention will in the long run be indirect rather than direct. The convention gives American goods a chance to establish themselves in popular favor in China. Every article with the "Made in U. S. A." stamp that is ordered at a fair price, that is up to catalog description and satisfactory in quality, means a strong advertisement for all American goods. And this widespread advertisement among the masses is what the goods of any nation needs before they can take a real hold in a foreign country.

After any given American firm has rendered satisfactory service with the class of goods that are shipped in parcel post packages, it has a certain right to look for mail orders of a larger sort that will be shipped by freight. Nowadays everything from a fish-hook to an automobile or a portable house can be bought by mail; and it is just under such conditions as prevail in China, where the local dealer who carries automobiles or portable houses in stock is conspicuous by his absence, that the mail-order catalog is in its element. Of course, there was always the possibility of selling goods in China by mail, the order to be shipped by freight. But shipping cheap trifles by freight is hardly practicable, and it is from just such small beginnings that confidence and larger orders must grow. The new convention gives America a chance to sell a large variety of goods to China strictly by mail, and on such a foundation an important commercial structure may be built.

It will come as something of a surprise to many people that the postoffice system in China is sufficiently efficient and well-organized to handle a country-wide parcel post. As a matter of fact there are considerable and populous Chinese districts untapped by railroad lines, but the network of rivers in the Flowery Kingdom gives an excellent basis for communication, and one that is liberally made use of. The importance of water routes in China is shown by the article in the convention which provides that for the present parcels destined for points which are not reached by steam transport must not be over one cubic foot in volume. But to all principal points—a list of several hundred—packages may be considerably larger.

The confidence placed in China by the United States in the matter of the parcel post is only a continuance of the same sentiment that we showed two years ago in letting the Chinese office handle our letter mail without hesitation, as soon as China entered the Universal Postal union, on September 1, 1914. Up to that time postal union mail had been handled through the intermediary of the services maintained in China by other countries. The ratification of parcel post conventions has always proved a valuable aid in promoting commerce and good understanding between two countries. By a coincidence, the agreement between China and the United States went into effect just twelve years to the day after a similar agreement between this country and Japan began to operate. The opportunity to ship to Japan has been freely used, but much larger results may be looked for in China, because Japan is, so far as she can be, a manufacturing nation who prefers to export rather than import manufactured products. China on the other hand is frankly a buyer nation.

One of the most important recent parcel post conventions was that which we arranged with the Argentine Republic about a year ago. There has been a noticeable stimulus to our export trade with Argentina as a result. We have now parcel post conventions in operation with every country in South and Central America except Paraguay, which has no sea-coast, and must therefore be reached by transportation belonging to other nations. None the less, postoffice officials believe that there is a prospect of concluding an agreement eventually with Paraguay also. Under international parcel-post conventions it is possible to ship any package within the size limit, up to eleven pounds in weight, for a flat rate of twelve cents a pound to any part of the world where a convention obtains. The rate is the same to Guatemala and China.

Several other parcel post conventions have been ratified recently, including those with Greece and Liberia, as well as with a number of British colonies. It is interesting to note that our first parcel post convention was with the British colony of Jamaica, which went into effect on October 1, 1887. From this it is obvious that we had foreign parcel post long before we had a domestic system; and in fact for many years it was possible to send a heavy package by mail from New York to London or Berlin, but not from New York to Brooklyn. In many countries foreign parcel post has antedated domestic; and in almost every case the foreign conventions have resulted eventually in the establishment of a domestic system.

The multiplication of international parcel post systems is going on steadily, and points clearly to the day when the whole world will be so linked together. The war has proved something of a setback; but there are excellent prospects that the United States will conclude such agreements in the near future with Spain, Portugal and Russia. With most of the principal European countries they are already in force. The most important conventions from the economic point of view are those which link us with buyer nations like Argentina and China. They are valuable aids in the war for trade which we shall have to wage with redoubled vigor after the other war in Europe is over.

MARION—For operating a "blind tiger" in a railroad box car, Piet Lamont, foreigner, was fined $100. He will also be assessed the Dow-Atkin liquor tax.

MARION—"Lock the doors the next time" read the note found by Mrs. Ambrose Halston on her return home from a shopping trip. The note was signed by "The Black Hand". The house was in a topsyturvy condition. Family savings bank had been emptied of several dollars and seven suits of clothes were missing.

ENDS LIFE BY SHOOTING.

SIDNEY, O., Aug. 16.—Charles O. Bennett, 28 years old, of Bennett Heights, son of Milton Bennett, ended his life by shooting himself in the right temple with a revolver. Bennett is said to have had financial reverses. He left a widow and three-week-old baby.

U. S. MONEY BILL SHATTERS RECORDS

Appropriation Measure to Exceed Previous Mark by Half Billion.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The importance of the $200,000,000 Demagogue bill one which senate Democrats today devoted many hours of deliberation in caucus is being impressed upon leaders by the fact that appropriations of the session now nearing completion will wage a hard fight on the revenue measure.

With passage this week of the $50,000,000 ship purchase bill and probable approval by the house of the senate's gigantic naval bill, the appropriations will have exceeded the previous high record by at least a half billion dollars. The aggregate appropriation by congress for all purposes probably will approximate $1,700,000,000, as against $1,114,000,000 for the last congress.

Final action on the naval bill is expected before the week ends. Tuesday the conference report will be called up in the house. Representative Padgett, chairman of the naval affairs committee, will move that the house agree to the senate amendments and separate roll call will be taken on each of the disputed sections.

With President Wilson and a majority of the party leaders urgently gram, it is believed the house will agree to them after advocates of a small navy have made their last fight. In anticipation of a close vote, every absent representative was notified more than week ago of the approaching contest, which will mark the climax of the national defense campaign.

Appropriations for preparedness alone will aggregate approximately $640,000,000 unless unexpected developments should force a reduction in the naval program.

WASHINGTON, August 16.—Ohio contributed $33,743,476.42 in internal revenues the last fiscal year which ended June 30, according to a report made public here tonight by Commissioner W. H. Osborn. The eighteenth Ohio district, in which Cleveland is located, paid in $3,078,995.35; the first district, Cincinnati, $19,240,434.31; the tenth district, Toledo, $4,130,867.82, and the eleventh, Columbus, $2,293,178.94.

The total collections throughout the country amounted to $512,723,287.77, an increase of $97,042,263.91, the next largest in the history. More than $12,000,000 was collected from persons having incomes in excess of $500,000 annually.

As a result of the emergency revenue known as the "war tax" Ohio paid into the federal treasury $4,730,613.99. Citizens of the Buckeye State paid income taxes aggregating $2,416,701.11 and corporation taxes of $3,627,218.61.

LONDON HOLIDAYS FOR MANY AMERICANS.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The crowd of prosperous American citizens calling daily just now at the American embassy and imposing a strain upon the official staff of Ambassador Page shows that there was no longer previous Americans crossing the Atlantic for a holiday.

Very few of them, however, are granted passports to visit the continent, for Switzerland has to be approached through France, and Paris has no time to entertain visitors. Consequently Americans are spending their holidays in England.

There is one former class of American visitors, however, not now anywhere in evidence. These are the clever international crooks reared in American cities. These undesirable are well informed as to the severe and thorough regulations enforced at the ports of landing, and they know that they have little hope of getting through.

USE OF FLAG OPPOSED.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—A protest against the use of the American flag on posters bearing the names and photographs of the republicans for president and vice president was sent to Charles E. Hughes by Captain E. R. Lewis, past president of the American Flag Day Association. Lewis contends that it is a violation of government regulations and state statutes.

YOUNGSTOWN.—The pay-roll of Youngstown Industries for July broke all records. The total being $3,724,991 as compared with $3,675,802 for June. This is at the rate of $45,000,000 annually.

MAY BE MURDER CASE.

DAYTON, O., Aug. 16.—Kelly Morgan, negro, employed by the Recording and Computing Machines Company, was murdered, is the belief of detectives, who have learned three bullet wounds were found in his body by Coroner McKem who made a post-mortem examination. Morgan gave his address as 37 East Sixth street. Efforts to find relatives in Cincinnati failed. It is believed he was a former jockey and race-track employee.

HONOR MAN IS MISSING.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 16.—Frank Cassidy, penitentiary inmate from Youngstown, and on the honor roll at the institution, was found to be missing more than 24 hours after he had walked away. Cassidy left the state stone quarry Saturday night, but authorities did not discover his absence until they checked up yesterday. He was received at the penitentiary December 29, 1914, and was serving three to ten years for a statutory offense.

Cure for Cholera Morbus.

"When our little boy, now seven years old, was a baby he was cured of cholera morbus by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Mrs. Sidney Simmons, Fair Haven, N. Y. "Since then other members of my family have used this valuable medicine for colic and bowel troubles with good satisfaction and I gladly endorse it as a remedy of exceptional merit." Obtainable everywhere. mon-wed-fri

MAN WHO FASTED 40 DAYS CANNOT EAT

PAINESVILLE, O., Aug. 16.—Dr. H. G. Huffman, Youngstown oculist, who ended a forty-day fast last Thursday, is now on an enforced fast at his camp on the Grand river, south of here. Food and his stomach became such strangers that they failed to get along together again.

"I'm starting on another fast, this one for ten days, and think I'll be all right at the end of that time," said Dr. Huffman today.

Huffman has fasted for three summers in the hope that it would cure him of heart trouble. His young bride of nine months, who went on a sympathetic fast during the last 16 days of her husband's long fast, says she's had enough.

CANADA PROSPEROUS LEADER TELLS ENGLAND

LONDON, Aug. 16.—All the world acknowledges the magnificent fighting spirit displayed by the Canadians in the great war. Their record at Ypres, Loos, Neuve Chapelle in the early stages of the fighting on the western front and what they have done later has added a glowing page to their history.

"Up to June last, we had enlisted 33,29 men, everyone of them determined to see the war through to a finish," said N. W. Rowell, K. C., a prominent Canadian politician, here today.

"Our financial position today is stronger than anyone believed possible after the heavy war expenditure we have had to bear. The result is that confidence in Canadian securities is so great that we are finding a ready market for them in America. What's more, last year's magnificent harvest helped things along finely, although recruiting is hitting our farmers in regard to cheap labor, as elsewhere.

"Then, again, our domestic war loan for 50 million dollars was subscribed twice over, while for the year ending last April the public deposits in the banks increased by $117,000,000. Finally, let me say that Canada is ready to face all industrial and financial problems which are bound to follow the war and to assure her prosperity in the future."

POSTOFFICE FLOATS AWAY.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 16.—The Woodsfield, W. Va., postoffice, loosened from its moorings by high water, floated by the city today in the Ohio river. It was lassoed at Ludlow, Ky., just across the river.

THE FAUROT PICTURES.

"Under Cover," the new Paramount picture at the Faurot scored one of the biggest hits of the summer at that theatre yesterday, playing to audiences that crowded the theatre from the first performance to the last. With Owen Moore, Hazel Dawn and Frank Losee heading a cast that is flawless, with splendid photography and settings, and, above all, a story that has seldom been equaled on the screen for rapid action, mystery, suspense and surprising climax, this picturization of Roy Cooper Megreue's big stage success pleasing from start to finish.

Just the Thing for Diarrhoea.

"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever." Many druggists recommend this remedy because they know that it is reliable. Obtainable everywhere. mon-wed-fri
